Build a Book

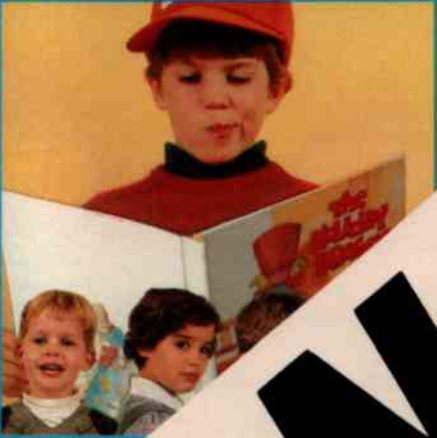

Guess what! With this software and your computer, you can build a book!

All about you, your town and your family.

Try!

Or write a book about your little town.

And you can write it, print it and bind it all by yourself.

Maybe with just a little help from Mom and Dad.

An adventure storybook all about you by you.

Two New Books!

Reuse your disk!
Use your Build a Book software to build a library!
Suitable for Apple, IBM and Commodore computers.

The Scarborough System.

Use your Build a Book software to build
two new books!

Or build a favorite for a friend!

Inside you'll find:

- 2 unbound hard book covers
- 2 plastic spines
- needle and thread for binding
- 2 self-adhesive end sheets

To be used with your previously purchased Build a Book disk for Apple, Commodore or IBM computers and all popular printers.

• Great Gift • Great Family Entertainment •

Kit #1.

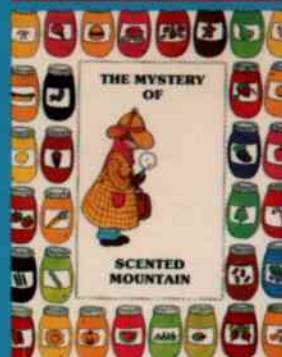

Adventures on the Riddle Planet. In this personalized adventure tale, your child hops aboard a spaceship and travels to the Riddle Planet where everyone talks in rhyme. To get home in time for his birthday party, your child has to solve the riddles posed by the daisies, the Curious Rose and the Master of Riddles.

The Greatest Circus Story Ever Told. The circus comes to town and two unhappy lions decide to run away...and they hide in your garage. Your child saves the day by convincing the runaways to go home. After a hero's parade, the Governor congratulates your child for bravery and awards a certificate for saving the circus.

Kit #2.

The Mystery of Scented Mountain (a "scratch-n-sniff" book). Your child stars as a detective who tracks down the Nose Monster and solves the mystery of the stolen scents. Miss Strawberry, the Gingerbread Man, Evergreen and even the Little Skunk all regain their special scents, thanks to your child.

The Holiday Dragon. What happens when a friendly dragon walks in the front door? He sits down for lunch with your child. And as they share a few sandwiches, the dragon and your child discuss their favorite holidays — making this a day to remember.

In case you may have forgotten, here's how to bind your Build a Book About You storybook.

Sewing the Pages

1. Stack your pages in numerical order, facing front. Place one white endsheet on top of your page set, and one on the bottom. Be sure that the backing faces out. Slide the binding strip over the left side of your page set, carefully lining up the holes.
2. Thread your needle and secure the knot as follows: Pull the needle and thread through the top hole at the end of the attached strip. Pull it most of the way through, leaving about one inch on the other side. Thread needle back through the double strand, and tighten so that it forms a loop around the plastic binding strip. This will ensure against slippage.
3. Weave your needle through holes in page set, pulling thread through snugly, but not too tightly. Reverse the direction until you've come back to where you started.
4. Loop the thread under the initial knot several times, thereby creating a double knot. Trim excess thread.

Attaching the Cover

1. Place the cover on a flat surface and open it up. Remove backing from the strip of tape in the center. Place the binding strip in the center of this sticky area. Gently close the book and press down firmly on the spine area.
2. Open the book and carefully peel backing away from the endsheet in the front of the book. Close book to align. Repeat this process with the back endsheet.

Your book is now finished! If you have The Mystery of Scented Mountain, place your strawberry scratch 'n sniff sticker on front cover under magnifying glass, and the balance of the stickers on page 32 of your text.

Inserting pages

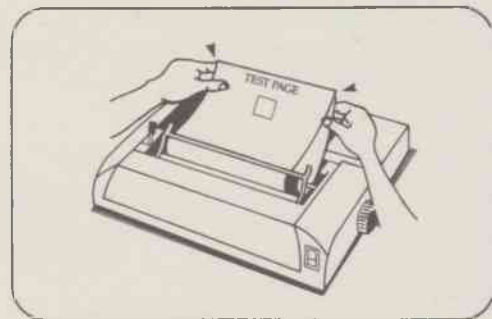

1. Lift the paper guide bar on the printer.
2. Hold the page upside down, with the side to be printed facing away from you.
3. Feed the page into the printer using the paper feed knobs. Line up the left edge of the page with the left edge mark on the printer. As you feed the paper, the side to be printed will appear right side up and facing you (drawing 1).
4. Release the roller (platen) by using the paper release lever or button. (Refer to your printer's manual if you have trouble locating the paper release lever or button.) Releasing the roller allows you to move the paper freely in the printer.
5. Sliding the page in the printer, match the top and bottom edges of the paper. This will ensure that the page is not crooked in the printer (drawing 2).
6. Move the paper release lever or button back to its original position. This pushes the paper against the roller and allows you to move the paper by twisting the roller knobs.
7. Push the paper guide bar back against the paper and roller. The paper guide bar holds the paper against the roller at the position of the printhead. Always be sure to push the paper guide bar back to the roller before printing.
8. Twist the roller knob until the top of the paper is just underneath the bottom of the paper guide bar (drawing 3).

Your page is ready for printing.
